

Mainstream Construction Group Wins $2.5 million in Contracts

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Fla., June 24, 2008 — Altamonte Springs, Fla.-based Mainstream Construction Group, Inc. has secured $2.5 million in contracts this month for five Dollar General stores to be built throughout the Southeast. All stores will be built using the 9,100-square-foot Dollar General corporate prototype manufactured by Nucor Building Systems. All five stores will be completed on a 45-day construction schedule, according to Mainstream's president, John J. O'Donnell.

For developer, Carolina Retail Development Services, LLC of Lexington, S.C., Mainstream will build new stores in the South Carolina cities of Ellenton and Enoree, designed by architect Rob Walker of Birmingham, Ala., and architect Rob Beattie of Oviedo, Fla., respectively.

Trotter Development, LLC, a development company headquartered in Augusta, Ga., contracted with Mainstream to build a store in Covington, Ga., designed by RBE Consulting Services, LLC of Oviedo, Fla.

In Florida, Mainstream is building stores in Umatilla and in Dade City for Maitland, Fla.-based Florida Retail Development, LLC. The Scott Partnership Architecture of Orlando, Fla., designed both stores.
